

RSD High School High School Reforms

More Time for Learning

- Extended school day and block scheduling allows for 9-10 potential credits per year.
- High school students will be provided opportunities for extracurricular, credit recovery programs and a variety of career related electives during the extended day periods.

High Quality, Rigorous, Best-Practice Curriculum

- Double blocks of English and math in freshman and sophomore years
- Managed Curriculum based on Louisiana Comprehensive Curriculum
- Tier II & III interventions (Read 180, Direct Instruction and Achieve, Carnegie Bridge to Algebra and Carnegie Geometry) for students in 9th and 10th grade
- Focus on literacy in all classes
- Advanced Placement and advanced courses
- Louisiana Virtual High School courses

Emphasis on Post-Secondary Linkages

- Internships
- Dual enrollment
- College Board training for counselors, principals, and teachers
- GEE/ACT preparation courses

More High School Choice in New Orleans

Recovery School District

- Charter Schools: Abramson Science and Technology, Algiers Technology Academy, Thurgood Marshall Early College High School, Miller McCoy Academy for Math & Science, Sojourner Truth Academy, O. Perry Walker
- Direct-operated, Career-Themed High Schools: George Washington Carver (creative arts and communications) Walter L. Cohen (health science and technology) John McDonogh High (entrepreneurship) Sarah T. Reed (engineering, math, science and technology)
- Comprehensive High Schools phasing out in favor of stronger programs: Joseph S. Clark, Frederick Douglass and L.E. Rabouin
- New High Schools: Greater Gentilly (New Tech, commercial art, education), International High School of New Orleans (International business, International Baccalaureate), L.B. Landry (coming in 2010-2011 – industrial design, health careers) Military-Maritime (coming in 2010-2011) KIPP high school (expected location Douglass building)
- Multiple Pathways – Schwarz Academy and Excel High (alternative schools)

New Orleans Public Schools

- Selective Admission Magnet Schools: Eleanor McMain, McDonogh 35
- Select-admission Charter Schools: Warren Easton, Benjamin Franklin, Lusher High, New Orleans Charter Math and Science
- Open admissions Charter Schools: Edna Karr